Centennial Leaders

My sincere congratulations to Waltham High School's centennial graduates!

You "49-ers" of the twentieth century enter upon your post-graduate careers with a hundred years of progress in education behind you. No effort has been spared by your parents and teachers in equipping you mentally, physically, and morally for your role in life. I hope sincerely that you will realize your own and their fondest ambitions and that you will make a rich "strike" in the accomplishment of worthwhile deeds.

Happy prospecting to all of you!

JOHN F. DEVANE,
Mayor

The century mark is but a milestone in the process of achieving better living through better education. The torch of learning must burn as brightly in the years to come as it did in those that are history.

RICHARD S. HUFF,
Headmaster

That illustrious group of teachers who have preceded us down the halls of time had but one purpose, namely, to cultivate in the largest number of our future citizens an appreciation both of the responsibilities and the benefits which come to them because they are American and free. We do well to follow in their footsteps.

JOHN W. MCDEVITT,
Superintendent of Schools

The achievement of 100 years of progress in education is worthy of everyone's commendation; my personal congratulations go to the members of our Centennial Class along with my sincere hopes for their success in the future.

FRANK E. SHEEHY,
Master

Standing: Joseph Rando, Richard Lockhart, Winifred MacKinnon, Stanley Cullen, Betty Selig, Robert Erickson, Robert Ferla.

Kneeling: Charles Maniace, Angelo Scalia.

ALMA ABRAMO

Stenographic Course

Al would like to be a professional dancer. With her rhythm and personality she will surely succeed. Alma brings us all available news about Belmont and keeps the kids laughing during lunch. She likes roller skating and basketball, as well as other sports. Commercial Club IV; Football Usher IV.

ROSE AHLSTRAND

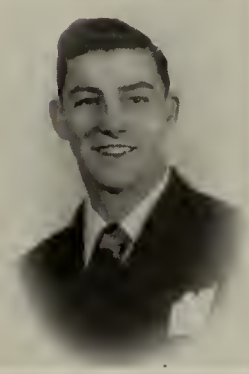
Home Economics Course

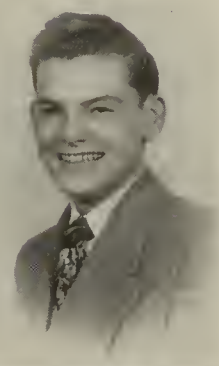
Rose is planning to be a ballroom dancing teacher at Arthur Murray's. You can usually find her waiting for V. P. Friday nights. She likes talking to T. B. and going to football games with V. P. Honor Roll IV; "Mirror" Staff IV.

EARL ANAIR

General Course

Earl likes school and a girl whose initials are T. M. He plans to work for Raytheon so that he can save enough money to go to State Police School. He should make a good officer of the law. Football IV; Tennis II, III, IV.

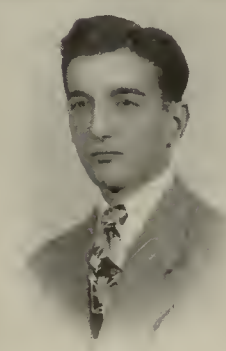




BETTY JANE ANDREWS

College Course

Betty Jane, one of our most popular seniors, is planning to walk down the aisle next fall to the familiar strains from Lohengrin. Evenings without lucky Hal are certainly dull. Class Secretary-Treasurer III; Cheerleader III, IV; Prom Committee IV; "Mirror" Staff III, IV; Art Club IV; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.



GERTUDE ANDREWS

College Course

The girl with the wonderful personality and sweet disposition is Trudy. Her likes are being with Johnny, Miss Gearan, and dancing at the Tote. She plans to attend B.U. with Flossie. Trudy is the feminine half of that famous Malloy - Andrews team which can be seen constantly. Dramatic Club II, III, IV; Junior Nominating Committee; 12 H. C. L.

SHIRLEY ANNIS

Home Economics Course

Slim's ambition is to go to Florida and become a dressmaker. She is always seen in the morning getting gum from F. G. and then getting caught. Slim likes to go hunting and fishing with G. W. but dislikes his singing.

LLOYD ANTHONY

Accounting Course

Lloyd, Publicity Manager of the P-H Club, likes the "Clam-Box", Bruins' hockey games, and dancing at the Tote. Being told what to do (esperially by girls) is his pet peeve. To enter the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance is his immediate plan. Commercial Club IV.

WILLIAM ARCHAMBAULT

Accounting Course

Bill, the quietest and one of the handsomest boys in the class, hopes to attend Boston University's College of Business Administration. He likes going over to N. J. H. every morning where Miss Magoley amazes him with "albrega". Commercal Club IV; Honor Roll II, III, IV.

ALBERT ARENA

Technical Course

Al's one ambition in life is to own a respectable bowling alley. He spends much of his time behind a drawing board in 204. Bowling, coffee, and all sports come under Al's list of likes; and a careful investigation has shown no dislikes. Art Staff IV; Tech Club IV.

GRAHAM ARMSTRONG

Technical Course

Army enjoys equally well music, sports, movies, and all social events. In the future he will attend the Massachusetts Maritime Academy. He can be seen around school anytime with G.I. Tech Club IV; Band II, III, IV.

EDNA AUCOIN

Home Economics Course

Edna, one of the quiet members of 217, plans to be a telephone operator. In the fall of the year you can usually find her at the Rock Alley football games. She likes bowling and basketball and dislikes waiting for people. Bowling IV.

GEORGE BEATON

General Course

George is a resident and lover of Lakeview. The Beacon plans to work his way up in the Army and then retire to a respectable restaurant in the North End of Waltham. George dislikes chemistry problems.

DONALD BALDARO

General Course

On our basketball team we have a good-looking senior who can always be seen sitting at the counter in Johnson's Drug store. Don spends his time admiring a certain blonde. He would like to work for an insurance company. Basketball II, III, IV.

JEANNE BEAUCAGE

Stenographic Course

To join the Navy is Jeanne's ambition. This cute blonde likes dancing, bowling, and a certain B. C. in the U. S. Navy. She would be much happier if homework hadn't been invented and if she didn't have to wait for late people. Glee Club II, III; Commercial Club IV.

DOROTHY BALLOU

Business Machines Course

Dottie came to us from Wrentham High School; her ambition is to become a professional figure skater. She likes to swim and dance with a certain J. W., but dislikes onions and missing the bus. Commercial Club IV; Dramatic Club IV; Class Day and Graduation Usher III; Glee Club III, IV.

PAUL BENGTSON

Technical Course

Paul is deciding either to attend the Massachusetts Maritime Academy or go right into the service. This member of the Secret Order of the Jokers likes to play tennis, basketball, and save stamps, but dislikes homework and (like a true Tech Course boy) girls. Tennis III, IV.

CARMELO BASILE

General Course

Everybody knows Gubby, the boy who would like to play "pro" baseball. He is also thinking of getting married to someone who can cook spaghetti and meat balls. He dislikes untruthful girls. Gubby is not only a baseball player but a future welter-weight champion of the world as well. Football II, III, IV; Baseball II, III, IV.

RUSSELL BENNETT

General Course

One of the nicer chaps of IVG is Russ. He enjoys indulging in debates in room 118. Russ plans to spend five years in the Army, and then he would like to settle down as a forestry boy for Uncle Sam. He likes popular music and dancing. Football III.

WALTER BARTLETT

College Course

Our popular basketball captain, Watso, plans to attend Bowdoin College. The outstanding player in the Suburban League, he amassed 278 points for the year. Watso likes to relax with popular music but keeps far away from homework. District Representative IV; Honor Roll II, III, IV; Baseball II, III, IV.

IRENE BERESZNIEWICZ

Home Economics Course

Irene, the girl with the long name, hopes to become a telephone operator. This studious girl came to us from Hyke Park High School. She likes reading, talking, and movies and dislikes conceited people. Honor Roll IV.

LOUISE BICCHIERI

Home Economics Course

Louise's biggest dream is to own a teen-age night club. She likes Midget Auto Races and dislikes waiting for M. K. Dramatic Club III, IV; Football Usher II, III; Advertising Staff II, III; Business Manager IV; News Reporter III, IV; Glee Club IV; Football Dance IV.

JEAN BLANCHARD

Stenographic Course

Jean is a great athlete and a good sport. She hopes to be a secretary either to President Truman or to Melone & Sons. This ambitious member of the big 5 loves eating spaghetti with Tony, but does not like waiting for him when he's late. Commercial Club IV; Nominating Committee II.

JACQUELYN BLACK

College Course

Remembering how Jackie excelled in Foods III, we all know her ambition to be a good wife will be fulfilled. Having successfully passed her test, she joins the ranks of telephone operators next year. Jackie likes spaghetti, Phil, and fishing but detests snippy girls who don't watch their tongues. Honor Roll I, II, IV; 12 H.C.L.

NANCY BLOMBERG

College Course

Nancy has three goals which she hopes to achieve: a secretarial course at B. U.; a million dollars; and a trip around the globe. Her fun list includes popular music, W. H. S. basketball games (with the spaghetti dinners beforehand), hikes, and movies. Lively D's IV; Honor Roll III.

ALFRED BLUNT

College Course

To live in Great Barrington with watchmaking as his occupation is Al's destination. This likeable fellow, who always carries a large stock of witty remarks wherever he goes, is partial to the Red Sox and small brunettes, but shies away from girls who put on make-up in public. Honor Roll II; Humor Editor IV.

STERLING BOLLES

Technical Course

Sterling Silver, that tall, good-looking fella who looks like a college student, hopes to be one at Carnegie Institute next fall. He wants to major in civil engineering and then travel to some distant place to work. He dislikes girls as a whole but enjoys sports, traveling, and music. Track III, IV; Tech Club IV; Honor Roll III; Temperance Essay Contest III.

HAROLD BOND

College Course

If you ever want someone to read aloud to you, just call for Zeke. Liking sports, girls, good books, and people with a keen sense of humor, this talented fellow would like to write a novel and own the St. Louis Cardinals as George Cobb's rival. Track II, IV; Baseball III.

GEORGE BONVALLAT

Technical Course

Tall, dark, handsome George plans to take up forestry at the University of Massachusetts and later settle in the mountains of Vermont. He likes fishing, hunting, hiking, cycling, camping, and good music, but dislikes girls, especially those who smoke, and big cities. Technical Club IV; Honor Roll II, III.

ANN BOULTON

Home Economics Course

Annabel wants to travel to Bermuda with the T. G. F. F. B. A. B. Club. She dislikes waiting to hear from D. S. L. and likes sleeping, dinner parties, and Sundays. Girls Glee Club III, IV; Football Dance Committee IV.

RICHARD BRADLEY

General Course

Punk is that dark, rugged fellow from Lakeview who plans to work for a while and then join the Army for three years. He likes popular music, football, basketball, bowling, and a girl who graduated from Trade School. Football II, III.

MARIE BRENNAN

Stenographic Course

Re can be seen riding around town with Betty in the Buick or fooling with the gang in 109. She wishes to be a receptionist after vacationing in Billerica. Likable Marie enjoys football, basketball, and, of course, listening to Vaughn Monroe. Dramatic Club IV; Commercial Club IV; Glee Club II.

WILLIAM BRIGHT

College Course

Willie's interests include baseball, archery, bowling, swimming, and basketball. This smart National Guard Corporal also paints watercolors and plays the piano. His ambitions are to teach chemistry and to travel; his favorite composer is Gershwin. Honor Roll III, IV; Dramatics II; Art Club IV.

GRACE BROWN

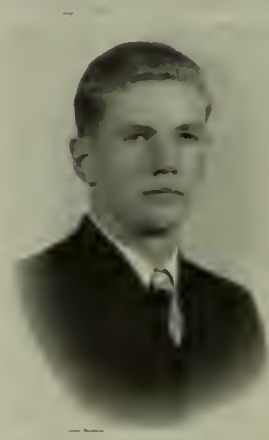
Stenographic Course

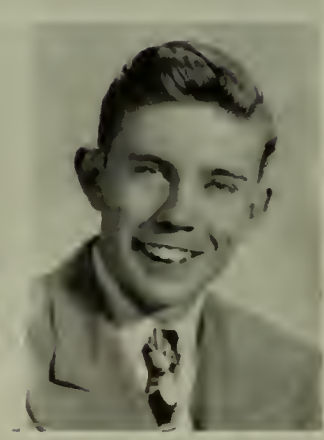
Brownie wants to be a secretary to an important man. "Provided there's no homework," says Grace. She likes to argue and go to the movies but does NOT like to get up early in the morning. Being very tall, Grace has no use for short boys. Commercial Club IV.

PHILIP BURGESS

General Course

Phil is one of those quiet fellows who never bother anybody. This good-looking hockey player plans to join his father in the carpentry business. He enjoys skating and going to the auto races. Phil would also like to own a couple of racing cars. Hockey II, III.

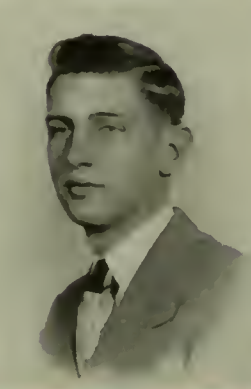




ELVIN BUTCHER

Business Machines Course

Elvin's ambition is to become a successful business worker in a large office. He dislikes the "new look", homework, and, above all, snooty girls. His chief interest is playing golf with the boys at Weston Golf Course. Golf II, III; Commercial Club IV.



LOUISE BUTLER

Accounting Course

Blondie would like to go to a music school, but if not that, she would like to work in a modern office with a handsome boss. Louise, a violin virtuoso, likes musical comedies, semi-classical music, and orchestra rehearsals. Who carries her music? Commercial Club IV; Orchestra II, III, IV; Honor Roll II, III, IV; Girls' Glee Club II, III, IV; Class Day Usher III.

RAYMOND CACCIATORE

General Course

Ray is that linesman who helped the football team along during his days at W. H. S. He would like to enter prep. school and college so that he can get back on the gridiron. Ray likes sociable girls and having money in his pocket. Football II, III, IV; Suburban All Stars IV.

GLORIA CALDWELL

Business Machines Course

Gloria's ambition is to become a court stenographer. After graduation she wants to take a trip to New York. She likes skating at the Skating Club, dancing, and swimming but dislikes missing the bus in the morning. Dramatic Club II; Commercial Club IV; Glee Club IV; Operetta III.

ERNEST CANAVAN

Accounting Course

Ernie, Honorable Master of the P-H Club, thinks that the monitor system should be outlawed. Golf and junior girls are Ernie's favorite pastimes. Either B. U. or Rhode Island State will be his destination for the future. Commercial Club IV; Golf II, III, IV.

MARY CAPPABIANCA

College Course

"Little Mary," who has been playing the piano for eight years, will begin studying next fall to become a medical secretary. Her ideal is tall, dark and handsome; and her fondest dream is a trip to California. This lively lady likes, best of all, last period Friday. Honor Roll III; Dramatics IV.

GUSTAF CARLSON

General Course

One of Waltham's outstanding athletes and the auditor of our class is Gus. He plans to go into the business world or maybe play professional baseball. He likes apple pie, coffee frappes, and a certain sophomore. Football II, III; Baseball II, III, IV; Hockey II, III, IV.

PATRICIA CARME

Stenographic Course

Pat, who is another member of the Big 5, is a Red Sox fan. She likes roller skating, Vaughn Monroe, and Ted Williams. Pat has a good disposition and dislikes losing her temper or being told what to do by bossy people. Secretary Commercial Club IV; Prom Committee III.

CLAIRE CARPENTINO

Business Machines Course

Petite Claire's wonderful personality will take her a long way in whatever she chooses to do, whether it be office work or housework. She likes going out with Joe, but dislikes conceited people or homework. Commercial Club IV.

GENEVIEVE CARUSO

Accounting Course

"What books do we need?" cries Gene as she tugs her ancient textbooks from their refuge. This glowing brunette's favorites are music, fried clams, and Dean's ice cream. Her ambition is to become a successful businesswoman. Commercial Club IV; Basketball III, IV; Volleyball II, III, IV.

ESTHER CHIASSON

Business Machines Course

Esther plans to be a telephone operator and her personality and ability to get along with people will carry her far. All sports are tops with Esther, especially ice skating. She dislikes people who are show-offs. Commercial Club IV; Honor Roll II, IV; Girls' Sports II, III.

PETER CLARKE

Accounting Course

Pete intends to further his education in a business school. He seems to have a natural ability at doing everything, especially keeping Ann happy. Treasurer of Commercial Club IV; Basketball III; Baseball II; Junior Prom Committee; Senior Dance Committee.

FRED CLARKSON

Technical Course

Fred plans for a hitch or two in the Marines after which he intends to marry a rich widow, sue for divorce, and live quite comfortably on alimony for the rest of his life. Hunting, fishing, and photography are all enjoyable to him. "Mirror" Staff II, III, IV; Honor Roll II; Operetta III; Dramatic Club IV; Tech Club IV.

ROBERT CLASBY

General Course

The class has a popular transfer from St. Mary's who likes to eat during his math period. Ra hopes to be a success in his own business. He likes quiet girls, chumming around with Phil, and sleeping in the morning. Football Dance Committee IV; State Representative for Good Government Day IV.

GEORGE COBB

College Course

Crash! Bang! Yes, that's George, the likeable fellow who aspires to the ownership of the New York Yankees—bitter rivals of the Cardinals owned by Harold Bond. Besides sports, he is fond of girls, Cadillacs, and vanilla frappes but dislikes people who have no sense of humor. Honor Roll II.

HELEN COLLINS

College Course

Helen, one of our prettiest seniors, plans to take a secretarial course at Katherine Gibbs. She has been outstanding in dramatics both as president of our Dramatic Club and as co-chairman of the Senior Play. Helen enjoys sports and dancing but dislikes homework. 12 H. C.L.; Senior Glee Club; Lively D's IV; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.

JAMES COMEAU

General Course

A quiet young artist, Jim came to us from Belmont High School. Perry, who is always smiling, plans to go to work or join the Army. If these plans fall through, he can always turn to his drawing. Football games, swimming, and art are tops with him.

IRVING CONNOLLY

Accounting Course

Irv wants to continue in banking and buy a new car to buzz around in. He likes to play the piano and play baseball. So far he still can't get used to the "new look". Chairman of the Programs and Assembly Committee, Commercial Club IV; P-H Club; Honor Roll II, III, IV.

HARRY COOK

General Course

Cookie is that quiet boy who plans to become an engineer after attending Huntington School for Boys and Northeastern University. He likes pretty girls, eating, sports, and church activities. Cookie's dislikes include silly girls and girls who comb their hair in public.

NORMAN CORMIER

College Course

Amateur boxing, art, and music make a trio of interests for Norm. He hopes to continue with all three after he graduates.

JEAN CONNOR

College Course

Jean has no anxiety about her future plans, for next September she will become a Mrs. (Have you seen her "sparkler"?) She likes dancing, football, baseball, and last period Friday but dislikes homework, conceited fellows, and first period Monday. Baseball II; Honor Roll II, III.

THERESA COUGHLAN

Stenographic Course

Terry just loves roaming around W.H.S. with the "Big Five". To reach the top as a successful stenographer is this pretty blue-eyed blonde's ambition. She dislikes waiting for people who are always late. Honor Roll III; Commercial Club IV; Basketball II, III, IV; Baseball II.

BARBARA COX

College Course

She's cute; she's pert with twinkling eyes—yep, she's Barb, who confesses she hates chemistry, along with spinach and, believe it or not, quiet studies. Barb's normal, too; she likes the movies and dancing at the Tote.

HELEN CROSHERE

Business Machines Course

Helen wants to take a postgraduate course and attend a teachers college. She likes skating at the Skating Club and horse back riding but dislikes people who drive in the middle of the road. Commercial Club IV.

JOYCE CULLEN

Business Machines Course

Joyce is one of the quiet members of our class. She came to Waltham High from Port Elgin High, New Brunswick, Canada. Joy likes almost everything except waiting for people and buses. Commercial Club IV.

STANLEY CULLEN

College Course

Cutz, our farmer boy, is widely known throughout W. H. S. for his wit. He plans to attend agricultural school and tells us he has his eye on a farm out west. He likes music, Vaughn Monroe, and dancing at the Tote, while disliking French monitors, and city life. Senior Nominating Committee.

EDWARD CURRAN

College Course

Earnest Eddie has a first-rate ambition—"to find a good job and earn lots of money, money, money." Strange as it seems, he likes school, (including Miss Betts and Miss Eaton), 'Le Petit Journal," and Watso's sandwiches. He has a strong aversion to monitors. "Naughty Marietta" III.

DOROTHEA DARCY

Stenographic Course

Dot's ambition is to work in the same office as Alma, Jeanne, and June do. She likes to watch all sports, especially basketball, and likes going to the movies. Dot simply adores doing homework and getting up early in the morning. Glee Club II, III; Commercial Club IV.

HELEN DAKIN

Business Machines Course

All sports are tops with Helen. Her ambition is to work in an office and then get married. She likes going to the Totem Pole and listening to the 920 Club but dislikes conceited boys. Commercial Club IV; Monitor IV; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.

PHYLLIS DANIELS

Business Machines Course

Phyllis would like to get married some day, but in the immediate future she hopes to make modeling her career. Among her likes is the "new look." Bad-mannered boys do not intrigue her. Commercial Club IV.

LORRAINE DELANEY

Stenographic Course

Lorraine is sometimes called "Oakie Doakie" after Doak Walker, whom she idolizes. She hopes to travel around the world with the Big 5 and land in Texas to see that certain football player. The fact that he has a girl doesn't seem to worry cute little Lorraine. Prom Committee III; Commercial Club IV.

MARGARET DELANEY

Home Economics Course

Peg plans to be a telephone operator and later settle down with B. F. She hails from St. Charles High School. She likes dancing with B. F., bowling, and swimming. Girls' Glee Club IV.

BARBARA DeMARCO

College Course

Barb, pretty and vivacious, can usually be found scurrying through the corridors with B. J. just before the last bell. Dancing at the Tote with Dick is her current favorite pastime. Class Sec.-Treas. IV; "Mirror" Staff IV; Football Dance Committee IV; Cheerleader III, IV; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.

JOANNE DeMARCO

Home Economics Course

Joanne's ambition is to attend Chamberlain School of Merchandising. She likes G. G. and dancing and dislikes Democracy and homework. Dramatic Club IV; Girls' Glee Club III, IV; Senior Dance Committee; "Mirror" Agent IV; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.

BENJAMIN DEMEO

General Course

"Hamburg 29c lb. while it lasts at Demeo's Market." Benny the Bandit hopes to work as a meat cutter and then open up his own market. He likes a certain young lady whose initials are M. J. T. and the song "Let the rest of the world go by." Basketball II; Football III.

GLORIA DENTINO

Business Machines Course

Gloria would like work in an office and also travel. She is one of the quieter members of the senior class. She likes movies and going to the Do-nut shop after school with Gwen, Claire, and Terry. Dramatic Club IV; Commercial Club IV; Monitor IV.

CARMINE DiPRONIO, JR.

Accounting Course

Carmine likes to talk about teachers as compared to welders in Mr. Tosi's Democracy class. For some obscure reason he likes driving to Wayland. He wants to continue welding and do accounting on the side. Commercial Club IV; P-H Club IV.

LORRAINE DONLON

Stenographic Course

Popular and attractive, Lorraine dislikes bossy people, fried clams, and getting up early. Sports, dancing, and swimming provide her most pleasant entertainment. To become a medical secretary is her goal. Honor Roll II; Commercial Club IV; Corridor Guide IV.

LOUIS DOYLE

General Course

Junie is one of those quiet boys from 217. He would like to start a farm in N. H. with a certain someone. His likes are but one. Junie enjoys trips to Prince Edward Island. He is also a member of the National Guard.

IRENE DOUCET

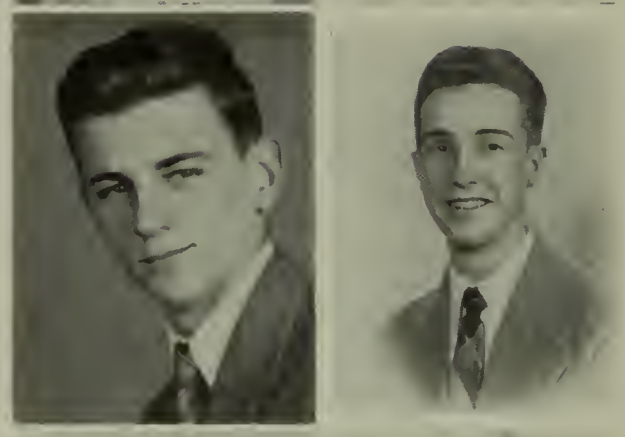
Accounting Course

Irene would like to take a trip to Florida and find a good job so that she can stay there. She dislikes jazz but enjoys bowling, basketball, and Gene's spaghetti dinners. Basketball and Baseball Manager III, IV.

IRIS DOUGHERTY

Stenographic Course

Our Friend, Irma, would like to circle the globe with the Big Five. This likeable and witty senior desires to be a lawyer's secretary. Sleeping, dancing, and all sports top her list; while home work and getting up early are distasteful: Honor Roll II; Girls' Sports II, III, IV.



PAUL DRAPKIN

Technical Course

One of those who seem to get good marks without studying is none other than Paul, who hopes to enter his talents at Harvard and major in mathematics. While claiming no dislikes, he lets it be known that horseback riding and driving a car, especially a '49 Plymouth, don't annoy him at all. Honor Roll II, IV.

BERTHA DRURY

Stenographic Course

To become a receptionist to an important businessman is the goal set by B. D., our lovely singer, dancer, and actress. Having fun with the gang is her chief like, but conceitedness and people who are always late just don't rate with her: Commercial Club IV; Dramatic Club II, III ,IV; Glee Club II, III, IV.

DONALD DRURY JR.

Technical Course

Rennselaer has wisely accepted Don; there he will study electrical engineering. To chase hockey pucks around the ice is one of Don's pleasures, while German doesn't seem to fit with him. Tech Club IV; Band II, III, IV; Orchestra II, III, IV; Honor Roll II, IV; Operetta III; "Mirror" Staff IV.

WALTER DUFFIN

Technical Course

After studying for his Bachelor's degree at Tufts, Duffy plans to become a successful engineer. While having an intense dislike for German homework, he has managed to memorize the phrases "Ich weiss nicht" and "genug." Walt places baseball and basketball tops in recreation. Band II, III, IV; Orchestra II, III, IV; Operetta III; Tech Club IV.

GRACE DUMAS

Stenographic Course

Grace, one of our monitors, dislikes saying "Quiet, please" in the corridor. She intends to be a telephone operator where she can say "Number, please" instead. As most of us know, red hair, especially on a certain young man, is admired by Grace. Bowling II, III; Glee Club III.

CATHERINE ELLIS

College Course

Cathy, one of our best-liked seniors, is an ardent Tech Tourney fan. She has had the honor of being a Women's Club Representative. Dramatic Club IV; Lively D's IV; Honor Roll II, III, IV; "Mirror" Staff II, IV; Class Day Usher III; Alternate District Representative IV.

ROBERT ERICKSON

General Course

Everybody knows and likes Bob, a quiet but cheerful member of our football team. He plans to spend twenty years in the Navy and then retire to New Mexico. Bob likes sports, eating, sleeping, and exercising at the Y. He dislikes getting up in the morning. Football II, III, IV; Nominating Committee II, IV.

HERBERT EVERETT

Business Machines Course

Herb claims hunting and fishing are tops on his list of sports. Because of his capabilities and likeable personality, he will certainly become a successful business man with the Edison Company. As proof of his popularity he has held the following offices: Class Secretary-Treasurer II, Auditor III; Commercial Club President IV.

JOAN FAHEY

Business Machines Course

With Joan's congenial manner, which has won her many friends, she is bound to succeed in life. She hopes to attend Kathleen Dell School for one year, and then a certain sailor will occupy most of her time. Skating and letters from E. M. rate "tops" with her. Commercial Club IV; Bowling IV.

DONALD FARRELL

Accounting Course

Handsome Don, one of our most promising seniors, can be seen looking for his top like, B. D. A lover of all music, Don blows a smooth trumpet with Don Wile's popular band. Class President II; Junior Prom Chairman; Honor Roll II, III, IV; Senior Dance Committee; Band II, III, IV; Commercial Club IV.

RICHARD FENNEL

College Course

Dick, the fellow with the super wit, is our future pharmacist—that is, after he attends college. Girls, with a sense of humor of course, sports, automobiles, and nice clothes are tops with him. Dick really just wants to lead a successful life and have fun.

ROBERT FERLA

College Course

With Bob's initiative and personality his plans of attending college and thereafter leading a profitable life are bound to succeed. Bob likes girls who have a "ready" smile. Football II; Baseball II; Junior Prom Committee; Senior Dance Committee; Nominating Committee IV; Honor Roll IV; Red Cross Agent II.

PAULA FITZGERALD

College Course

"Where there's smoke, there's fire; where there's Winnie, there's Paula." This lively lady likes David, soupy lemon meringue, and far away places; but don't even whisper to her about chemistry or English themes. Glee Club III, IV; North Junior Alumni IV, 12 H.C.L.

ANN FITZPATRICK

Home Economics Course

Fitzie plans to go in training at the Mercy Hospital, Springfield. She likes going out with Ray, dancing, and bowling. Her main dislikes are making banana royals and meeting conceited people. Honor Roll III, IV.

ELEANOR FOLEY

Business Machines Course

Eleanor wants to attend a business school and major in shorthand. She likes dancing, bowling, and skating but dislikes boys without manners. Badminton II; Bowling II; Commercial Club IV.

PHYLLIS FOWLER

Home Economics Course

Paul, a hockey enthusiast, sells gas at Stony Brook and hopes to work as an auto mechanic with his father. There's someone (he says she's beautiful) who causes him to head toward Needham whenever he can. Hockey II, III.

PAUL MILNER

Trade School

Rocky is the class's sports lover. A look at his excellent record will show why he plans his career as a coach and athletic director. Varsity Football II, III, IV; Member of All Star Squad IV; All-Scholastic Tackle IV; Trade Varsity Basketball II, III, IV; Varsity Baseball IV.

PAUL CHAISSON

Trade School

Paul, a staunch member of the Boys' Club and St. Pierre's Dramatic Club, is going to put his welding to use in a shipyard. A great admirer of Vern Stephens, Chase also likes wrestling, boxing, and even people (the latter an admirable trait). Class Basketball II, III, IV.

MAURICE LARRABEE

Trade School

Buster's dislikes are few, but his likes many. Among these are football, hunting, and pictures of June Allison. He intends to enter the U. S. Navy and become an expert welder. Class Basketball II, III, IV.

JOHN O'TOOLE

Trade School

Muzzi's ambition? Why, to be a precision machinist in our own B. C. Ames, naturally. A sports enthusiast, John likes all sports but especially swimming and bowling. Trade Varsity Basketball III, IV.

JOSEPH CONWAY

Trade School

Joe, or Slim, as he is called by his classmates, hopes to operate his own garage some time in the future. He likes fishing and raising and caring for animals.

JOSEPH DE FILIPPIS

Trade School

Swimming and fishing are Clim's most enjoyable pastimes, with rooting for the Red Sox not far behind. His ambition is to be a farmer, with selling and servicing tractors and other farm equipment for the gang from the Boys' Club as a sideline.

ALBERT GULLOTTI

Trade School

Amiable Butch, whose weaknesses are girls and dancing, hopes to work in his brother's gas station after he receives that coveted sheepskin. He numbers swimming among his likes and "delinqnents" among his dislikes.

FRANCIS DiMATTEO

Dima is another one of the boys who plan to join Uncle Sam's fleet and see the world before they settle down. As treasnrer of the Ink Spots and a member of the Students' Council, he is one of our most popular trade seniors. Trade Varsity Basketball III, IV.

ANTHONY PINEAU

Trade School

How does he do it? Tony likes hunting, fishing, all sports, dancing, music, and, above all, eating. All that, and he still has time for carpentry, in preparation for the day when he'll be a constructor of great edifices. (How about a new high school?) Trade J. V. Basketball II, III, IV; Class Baseball II, III, IV.

ALBERT SANDUSKY

Trade School

If you ever want any printing done, Al will do it for you, as he plans to make this work his career. A popular fellow, he is president of the Ink Spots and likes all sports going. Basketball II, III, IV.

ANTHONY TARANTO

Trade School

Tony is a woman hater (especially blondes) and is about the only one left in existence. Never mind, Tony, we hear that you're the most popular boy in the Trade School. Good luck in your career as a construction manager. Class Basketball II, III, IV.

CHARLES VESSEY

Trade School

In his travels as a journeyman carpenter and cabinet maker, Clancy is going to keep near spots where he can pursue his pastimes of swimming, hockey, bowling, and attending the best movies. He also likes music (ask the Lexington Drum and Bugle Corps) and raising pets. Class Baseball III, IV.

CHARLES DUNHAM

Trade School

Pat likes all sports with special emphasis on hunting, fishing, and swimming. His pet ambition is to apply his co-op machine training to work on precision instruments. Trade Varsity Basketball II, III, IV; Trade Varsity Baseball IV; Student Council III.

MERVIN GODFREY

Class History

RICHARD LOCKHART

It was the year 1849 that a small, unimposing wooden structure opened its doors for the first time as the new high school for the city of Waltham. Slowly trudging through the corridors was a little group of bewildered students, amazed that it was to constitute the first student body of the first Waltham High School.

From 1849 until 1902 the secondary school population expanded until it outgrew the confines of that first wooden building. In 1902 the central section of the present high school was constructed. Nineteen thirty-five found it necessary for a larger structure, and so the wings and gymnasium were added to the central edifice.

As sophomores in 1946, the present graduating class, like the group of 1849, solemnly made its way into the halls of the present Waltham High School, little realizing that they were destined to be the centennial graduating class. Yes, we, too, were bewildered and amazed at the large structure, the long hallways, the rushing about of the juniors and seniors.

Our high school career thus began in no spectacular manner. Gradually we were absorbed into this new way of life. The new rules and regulations confused and astounded us, but despite the ready assistance of the upper classmen we soon became acclimated. We were now part of W. H. S.

Our first few weeks were spent in zealous study, maybe not so much to acquire knowledge as to impress our teachers. However, we soon drew our heads from our books to take part in the school affairs and began by electing our class officers. The final tabulation of the votes found handsome Don Farrell, president; Jo Mula, vice-president; Herb Everett, secretary-treasurer; and Gerald Arsenault, auditor.

We joined the rest of the school in support of all the sports, which included cheering the football and hockey squads on through comparatively mediocre seasons. The 13 - 0 gridiron victory over our archrivals from Newton was a big consolation, however, and gave the whole school as well as the team definite encouragement. Then the basketball season rolled around, bringing honors to Waltham High. The Quinn quintet climaxed a highly successful season by gaining an invitation to the Tech Tourney, after carrying off the Suburban League crown. The team fought its way right down to the finals, where it finally succumbed under the attack of a powerful Durfee five that eventually went on to win the State Championship. We sophomores proved our loyalty by feeling just as bad over the defeat as the juniors and seniors.

A dubious distinction that we gained that year was to be the first sophomore class not to have a social, but we promised to make up for that the next year.

Time marched on, and so did we, most of us anyhow, and the following year found us well established as juniors. We started out on another of the often called "best years of our lives" with a little more confidence—probably increased by the sight of the confused sophomore class repeating out past mistakes.

The sport pages reported nothing spectacular about our football team that year, but we staunchly defended our players and faithfully attended every game. Our reward was the overwhelming 40 - 13 victory over Everett, which was much stronger than the score might indicate.

Winter came and the basketball team once more received the honors by entering the tourney for the second straight year. However, that Durfee team stopped us again, this time in the semi-finals. The garden was packed, and an eye-filling paper barrage cascaded onto the floor as the final whistle found the teams deadlocked. The suspense continued as we drew Durfee into two overtime periods, until finally the game ended in a sudden death. We had lost! This game was unanimously acclaimed as one of the most exciting in the history of the tourney. Watso Bartlett, who broke two Waltham scoring records, and Dick White gave promise of a strong team to come in 1949.

Despite repeated objections and rejections from the male gallery, the girls still continued to trip on their lengthy skirts and the objectors retaliated by refusing to wear ties, which, on the whole, they never did anyhow.

It was Wendell Goudey, star end of the football team, who led us in our flag saluting that year. Jo Mula and Herb Everett came back to be vice-president and auditor respectively, and Betty Jane Andrews took over the secretary-treasurer honors.

As sure as May rolled around, so did the long awaited Junior Prom. A drizzling sky did not dampen anyone's spirits, as everybody had a traditionally good time. The prom committee, headed by Don Farrell, was the prime factor in its success.

Finally the great moment came; we filed into the halls to begin our last year. We were seniors! Along with us came the realization and constant reminder that we were the one hundredth anniversary graduating class and were to act especially dignified — which, of course, we did.

This was a year of changes and developments. The first that greeted us as we came back from our summer vacation was a new administrative force. After many years of service, the esteemed Mr. Goodrich had retired, and Mr. Huff had capably assumed the duties as our headmaster. Appointed as assistant headmaster was Mr. Sheehy, our well-known biology teacher. These changes brought a touch of the Dartmouth green to our red and white. The many new faces in the faculty at first gave us the feeling that we were in a different school, but a glance at the monitors told us we were still in Waltham High.

One new development was the National Honor Society, which was adopted right after the close of the third quarter. I can still see the lucky members proudly displaying their pins to whoever came within sight. Another important inauguration that took place in our last year was the student council. For years the majority of the student body had raised their voices in hearty approval of student council organization, and towards the close of the year it finally came into effect. This, in itself, is a far cry from the old birch stick discipline of the one room schoolhouse era and is one of the examples of modern education.

After reading carefully the numerous campaign posters preceding our election of class officers, we chose John McGovern, our "typical American boy", who played a little football, hockey, and baseball, as president of the Senior Class. For the third successive year, vivacious Jo Mula emerged vice-president, while dazzling Barb De Marco and hockey player Gus Carlson became secretary treasurer and auditor respectively.

To the complete surprise of all, including the weatherman, there was no snowstorm on the night of the Senior Dance; in fact, it was under a starry sky that the family car drove up outside the main ballroom of the school (alias the gym). The scene of our many basketball triumphs was hardly recognizable with the very effective centennial decorations, highlighted by a huge silver ball in the middle of the ceiling. The lack of sneakers was distinguishable among the dancers as the couples in flowing gowns and tuxedoes glided over the floor. The chairman of this most successful event was Wendell Goudey.

In addition to the usual extra-curricular organizations, new ones have been formed during this past year. The Tech Club, the Photography Club, and the Art Club were organized by Mr. Pettinati, Mr. Perkins, and Miss Russo respectively. These clubs were enthusiastically received by the students and gave evidence that there are some things for which a pupil does not mind staying after school. The official organization of the Business Courses, the Commercial Club, was re-instated after some years' absence. One of the successful events of our senior year was the dance sponsored by this club.

The first Saturday night dance in the history of the school was another enjoyable affair highlighting our 100th year. The Football Dance, directed by Sally Safford, to defray part of the cost of the yearbook, was planned for the night of the Newton game, as a celebration of our victory, so undaunted students filled the dance floor anyhow, and a good time was had by all.

A look into the sports picture will reveal that the various teams were in good form. One example was the fairly successful season through which the football squad plummeted, under the guiding eye of new head coach, Jack Fisher. The basketball team for the third successive year took the league championship and automatically entered the Tech Tourney. Ignoring the sports experts they emerged victorious in the first two playoffs, but met their nemesis, however, in Somerville, in the finals, thus just missing out on the trophy once again. Besides playing his usual outstanding game in the tourney, Bartlett also set a new Suburban League scoring record.

Glamour popped up in the ranks of us seniors in the form of a Centennial Queen and her court. Chosen for the queen was Barb DeMarco (her title is enough description) while the other lovely maidens were Nancy McGirr, Winnie MacKinnon, Phyllis Fowler, and Betty Jane Andrews. It is reported that the male members of the class had no complaints over the selections.

Every Senior Class has its Senior Play, and we, being typical, were no exception. What a Life, starred by John Malloy as Henry Aldrich, and Winnie MacKinnon as Barbara Pearson, who, like everybody else, could not keep Henry out of trouble. These two were supported by a cast of Barrymores and Hayes in Flo Tankel, as Headmaster Art Phipps' secretary; Fred Clarkson, Janice Woolner, Cynthia Parsons, Jean Meegan, and Ruth Kilpatrick as faculty members; Joe Pittorino, Barbara Hodgdon, Jo Mula, and Bill Riley as students; Dick Lockhart as assistant principal; Sally Safford as Mrs. Aldrich; Jim Russo as a parent, and Dick White as the detective. Mr. Ralph Nelson, as director, added this to his long line of hits.

It was David Sabsay and Sally Safford who were at the helm of the MIRROR in this, its fortieth year, and they combined their efforts to bring us commendable mid-year and graduation issues. Leon Simmons and Louise Bichieri did a great job as business managers.

Thus we reached the end of our senior year. We, the Class of 1949, after carrying our motto of "Laborate et Vincite" through the months, have closed our high school books for the last time. We are now ready to step forth into the adventurous world — into a new school — a school of opportunity and hardships, a school of trial and error, of success and failure. Although we have closed our school books, we will always keep open our memories of the fun, good times, and trials of our days at Waltham High. We will always remember and be grateful for the lessons we have learned here — not just the assignments, but the experience in "getting along", of trying, of not giving up when on the verge of failing. No, we will never forget our high school days, and we hope that one hundred years from today, school life will mean as much to the two hundredth graduating class as it has meant to us.

RICHARD A. LOCKHART.

Class Poem

THE FORTY-NINERS

By

DAVID SABSAY

Tomorrow we, with pride and some regret
Shall leave a past which we cannot forget
And enter humbly into man's estate
Tomorrow we at last shall graduate.
Yet we behold a world of misused power
And know we enter at the crucial hour.

Our elders failed; to us the task remains
Of setting forth across the hostile plains
And through the wilderness of hate and fear.
Like those strong heroes of another year
Who braved a thousand dangers in their quest
And gave to man the vast and virgin West.

Now we, the Forty-niners of today,
Must cross a far more fearsome waste than they.
We seek a treasure far more precious than
Mere gold. We seek the brotherhood of man;
And when success permits our toil to cease,
We shall have given to man an Age of Peace.

Class Prophecy

JOSEPHINE MULA

The sun shone brightly on one corner of my desk, that was cluttered with the morning mail. A glance told me that there was a good measure of the usual — the same old bills, the same old appeals for charity, the same old ads — but a square-shaped envelope attracted my attention. I picked it up and felt it. It was heavier than the ordinary letter, and I could feel the embossed print on the inside. I opened it and found an invitation to attend the dedication of a new building in Waltham.

An editor is a hard man to convince, but I suggested a feature article with homespun flavor about "the return to the old home town". He consented after some argument.

I was awakened from the misty reverie of an uneventful train trip by the information from Barbara Frizzell, my pretty and efficient secretary, that our train would arrive at the Waltham station in five minutes. She was right. We stepped down off the train and heard a band playing "Ain't She Sweet!" Wasn't it nice of them, I thought. But the feeling was short-lived. Walking right by us was Mayor Arthur Raymond Michael Phipps II and his board of advisers — Bob Ferla, Fred Clarkson, Walter Duffin, James Stark, and Russ Bennett. They stopped at the steps of the next Pullman to welcome home Barbara Scholl, "The Queen of Potato Land". Accompanying her were two ladies-in-waiting, Ann Nobile and Esther Redden. Our own welcome-home committee, made up of Peter Mairs, the famous artist; David Mairs, his brush-washer; and Gerry Horne, Peter's private bodyguard; met us about a half hour later, punctual as usual.

We were led to a long, sleek, black limousine and who should be in the driver's seat but Ray Pickell, David's private chauffeur for the day. We drove to a building which was once the site of Grover Cronin's, and I was amazed to see a large neon sign that read, "Rah Clasby's Hotel — We Always Serve Towels!" We went in, waved to Barbara DeMarco sitting serenely in the lobby, signed the register with the room clerk, George Beaton, casually reading our names upside down and beckoning to Graham Armstrong, the bellhop, who proved to be an unerring guide to our rooms. Tired from the long trip, my secretary and I went to sleep with pleasant anticipations of the week end ahead of us.

After being served breakfast by Priscilla Meade and Judy Howard because the dining room was so spacious, we left for a glimpse of our city. We walked up Moody Street to a large art store with a sign that read,

"We sell paints and brushes to Punch and Judy,
Just come in and ask for John or Trudy!"

I always knew John Malloy and Trudy Andrews would make a cute couple. Further up the street we noticed a very good looking young man, pushing a twin baby carriage with two other children clinging to the handles. Could it be? Yes, of course it was Don Baldaro, the shy boy, now a professional baby sitter.

Our attention was distracted from Don to a small brass band clanging its way down Moody Street. Paula Fitzgerald and Joan Riefel were in front carrying a large sign that read,

"You may kill us, shoot us, or even bury,
But we're always loyal to Ronnie Perry."

It was signed Dougie Robertson, Barbara Tedesco, June Hodgkins, and Elaine Romotsky. Who should be carrying a lighted torch but Cynthia Parsons.

Curious about the rest of our city, we walked toward Main Street and stopped at a small coffee shop. To no surprise of mine we were served by the new owners themselves, Walter McGovern and Dick Parker. While we were drinking our second free cup, a distinguished looking man entered the shop carrying a leather brief case. His dark-rimmed glasses confused me for a minute, but I knew that face. Yes, it was Carmelo Basile, now Professor of Education at Columbia. Following him were a row of girls asking for autographs. Among them were Suzanne Racine, Theresa Iodice, Nancy Blomberg, Carol Hansen, and Gloria Salvato.

We left the shop and noticed by the Waltham Watch on the corner that we still had time for adventure. My secretary, eager to see some of her old friends, asked me if I would walk down a block to the place where Giardina's used to be. There we beheld Earl Anair behind the soda fountain, putting up orders which Gloria Caldwell, Ann Boulton, Irene Doucet, and Rae Peeling were calling out.

After eating our ice cream, we walked west on Main street. On the way we met Jean Blanchard walking by with a small troop of young children behind her. She said that she and her assistant, June Wheeler, were taking them on a field trip to the woods to draw wild birds and flowers. When we reached the library, we noticed a new addition. Harold Bond, who was passing by, told us that it was built through the courtesy of the Sabsay and Safford Further Educational Foundation. We walked in and met Mary Olive Wall, private secretary to Mr. Sabsay. While we were waiting, we noticed Don Wile reading a book entitled "How To Tell Your English Teacher She's Wrong Without Getting a Conduct Mark!" Ah, memories, Don, memories.

Returning, Mary told us that Mr. Sabsay and Miss Safford would see us. She led us into a very modern office with green leather seats, red carpets, and yellow wallpaper. David was a veritable fund of information. He said that Robie Nix, Lloyd Pearson and George Cobb were members of the Pyramid Club, Inc. Their dues, we were told, were only $2048 a month. Gus Carlson was now living in Florida and training with the Braves. Peter Clarke and Ann Halloran have opened a new Baby Shop and have hired Phil Newfell as manager. Sally informed us that she has just received her 15th Master's Degree in Education at the University of New York.

A little thirsty from all the intellectual conversation with Sally and David, we left and stopped at Tom Vahey's drugstore and ordered a coke from William Archambault, who said that he was taking dramatic lessons at the Cutzie Cullen School of Dramatics. He also told us that Lenny Shaw was taking lessons as Clarke Gable's stand-in, since all he did was stand around all day. We left Tom's store and walked down to the unforgettable Athletic Field. Here we saw Coach Whizzer White fingering a twenty cent cigar, and seated under a large beach umbrella. In back of him were his two assistants, Wendell Goudey and Jim Russo, who were putting their teams through stiff practices via microphones. On the other end of the field (I could hardly believe my eyes) but there was Ruthie Kilpatrick training young girls from four to sixteen to become cheerleaders. Ruthie waved to us and shouted that she was getting them ready for high school tryouts. What's all the noise? Well, if it wasn't good old Mr. Crawford trying to get his band to make a W without making it look as if they were playing Blind Man's Bluff.

We left the field and decided to go to see a baseball game which was being played at the new "Honest John McGovern Stadium." Collecting tickets at the gate were Frances Green, Salley Ann Wilkins, and Mary Kelly. Orazio Salamone, the stadium attendant, ushered us to a box seat, where we were privileged to sit with a few of the notables attending this benefit game. Among them were Police Chief Arthur Osborne, Professor James Tumulty of Harvard and Gladys Richardson, with her famous husband, Dr. Lucious. Jean Mahoney and Sylvia McGilvary passed out programs. What's this? A girls' team consisting of Phyllis Fowler, Lillian Porretti, Arlene Elliott, Helen Croshere, Nancy Smylie, Sylvia Lowe, Grace Dumas, Pat Stevenson and Flo Mula played against a boys' team. I noticed by the name on their shirts that they called themselves the Daring Daughters. Finally, after Dr. Dick Lockhart carried Pat Stevenson off the field on a stretcher, the Daughters won 101 to 3.

After the game there were special buses operating to carry the many people to the Hovey Memorial where a reception was held in honor of Herbert Everett's and Elvin Butcher's appointments to the State Legislature. Maynard Wellington and Irving Connolly cheerfully made many trips with their buses so that all the people could get to the hall.

A few words from Jimmy Morse, master of ceremonies, started off the program. First he introduced the famed radio, television, and film star, Bertha Drury, who sang a beautiful song of personal memories, Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life. A brief skit entitled "The Alcoholic" or "Am I R-i-g-h-t?" was enacted by Chuck Roache, Joseph Tomao, Bernard Huber, and Dick Noyes. When the applause died down Sally Jones danced, while in the background the chorus girls, Barbara Pierce, Vivian Prime, Marion Grant, and Caroline Gustafson sang the popular tune "What Did I Do?"

Before the lights were lowered for a song by the Barber Shop Marmonies of Dick Fennel, Dave MacNeill, Gordon Lincoln, and Albert Arena, I saw in a far off corner, Theresa Conghlin, Joyce Cullen, Pauline LeBlanc, and Iris Dougherty talking with Hollywood's Newest Sensation, Jimmy Tobin—here on a personal appearance tour with his press agent, Ed Tracey. Suddenly the spot light was centered on the stage and Jimmy introduced Jeanne DeMarco, the famous dress designer; Helen Dakin, the noted psychiatrist; Beatrice Parisi, the famous hair stylist just back from Paris; Nellie Roman, the famous artist with her butler, Harry Cook, who was walking her dog, Fido; and Janice Woolner, owner of a nationally known magazine.

During intermission, I noticed Bob Erickson and Dick Bradley running a soft drink bar. Their favorite was a mixture of coke, root beer, ginger ale, cider and milk. They called it "One Dose of Heaven." In the other corner Dick Schoorens was selling ice bags and Bromo Seltser. Busines was enormous. After our appetizing dinner, we took a taxi home, sharing it with Carol Wellman, Betty Schmidt, Ruth Holan, and Peggy Delaney.

The big day came — the day that had provided the invitation, the excuse, and the argument to return to Waltham. The people whom we met and whose progress and change we had seen and learned about in a few hours made a fitting prelude to the reason for being here. My secretary and I were a little wistful as we walked along with the many others to the site of the dedication. On the way we met Winnie MacKinnon, who walked the rest of the way with us. We turned the corner to gaze in awe at the building of gleaming white granite, simple in line and impressive, a legend of three words on the facade. To one side was a platform peopled with dignitaries of the past and present. There were speeches by Fred Clarkson, chairman of the School Department, and Florence Tankel, Superintendent of Schools. Gerry Mollica sang a lovely aria from her latest operatic triumph.

Then Mayor Phipps walked up to the microphone and called a certain young man to the center of the stage. "Mr. Bartlett," said the Mayor, "I am proud to present to you the key which will open the doors of this school. May many, many years of success come to Bartlett High!"

Class Will

CYNTHIA PARSONS

CLASS OF 1949

We, the Class of 1949, being of sound mind (we assume) and disposing memory, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament. After payment of our just debts (towel money, that is), we bequeath and devise as follows:

To Mr. Huff, our new and zealous headmaster, a pair of very squeaky shoes, so that future classes can hear him coming in the corridors and can know when to stop talking.

To Mr. Sheehy, our good-natured class adviser and submaster, a set of happy little shmoos, which will run his many errands and which, at two o'clock each afternoon, will tiptoe into Room 208 and write out ten times every chapter assigned to those unfortunates who thought they could talk in biology class.

To Miss Darmedy, who made history come alive for us, carpeted floors so that a pencil dropped in one of her "restless classes" won't distract her.

To Miss Mooney, sets of typewriter keys covered with plush to keep the manicures of our lovely future secretaries in perfect condition for their nightly dates.

To Mr. Smyth, whose awe-inspiring voice has followed us through the hushed corridors for the last time, a monitor even bigger and better (heaven forbid!) than Walter Hallowell.

To Miss Sewall and Miss Frost, who have guided our faltering steps through waltzes, square dancing, and the cherished ladder, padding for all that hard, wooden equipment on which we so often scraped our complaining knees and knuckles.

To Miss Bliss and Miss Babb, pilots of our foods and nutrition courses, one of two things:—either a new punch recipe or, if they must use orange concentrate, a medicine dropper with which to measure it.

To Miss Graverson, who jokingly threatened once or twice to "fly out the window" if we didn't follow her instructions about patterns, fashion shows even finer than those put on during our three-year climb.

To Mr. Elliott, one of our long-suffering algebra teachers, an enlarged colored portrait of his "veteran" pupils, to keep on his desk always.

To Mr. Cavanagh and Miss Grover, whose after-school concerts were enjoyed by so many, a recorder, so that records with the sound of their music may be carried out into the cold world by the cuties in the Business Course in order to keep them from being homesick for W. H. S.

To our coaches, Mr. Leary, Mr. Quinn, Mr. Brinn, and Mr. Fisher, we leave the fine sportsmanship displayed by all our teams this year and the hope that next year may see both hockey and basketball championships landed at Waltham High.

To Miss Nolan and Miss Madden, who have patiently inspired our eager-beaver cheerleaders, a group of girls that will attend every practice in the "caf" and will decide once and for all whether to wear white or maroon sox.

To Miss Clement, who has listened untiringly to so many tirades and complaints about life in general from her College Prep. seniors, the proceeds from several Pyramid Clubs so that she can put all her "A" French students through college.

To Mr. Morang, our sharp, tweed-suited chem. teacher, a bottle, gallon-sized, of Chanel Number Five. There must be something that will smother the perpetual smell of chlorine that pervades Room 308.

To the Class of 1950, that looked upon us with reverence and awe, we leave that fictitious belief of every junior, built up by the faculty, that, if a student has been faithful to his studies and has slaved over his homework for the past two years, his senior year will be a time of ease and enjoyment.

To next year's juniors, whose faces are no longer green, we leave the sophomores, to do with them whatever they will.

To the incoming sophomores, bless their little pointed heads, we leave the time-worn quip of everyone who glances up at the walls in assembly for the first time: "Well, is that what the Class of 1908 looked like?"

And to our ancient and venerable high school — we just leave.

As co-executors of this will and testament, we appoint Miss Flagg, Mr. Curry, Mr. Hollis, and Miss Eaton.

In Witness Whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and seal this first day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine.

Personalized Portraits and it's all done with Lights!

There's magic in light . . . add a light here, place a spotlight there, and your portrait takes on the appearance of real form and individuality.

Your Vantine photographer knows how lighting effects can be best used. . . . How easily they can reflect your personality.

Your Vantine photographer knows best how to secure the sharply etched photograph your engraver desires of the important senior year. . . . The victories of the athletic teams. . . . The brilliance of social occasions. . . . The Prom . . . The plays. . . . The debates. . . . The expression of every-day life on the campus.

That personalized portraits by Vantine are important is attested to by the fact that over 300 schools and colleges repeatedly entrust their photographic work to Vantine.
